

Pietro Demurtas

IRPPS – Institute for Research on Population and Social Policies
National Research Council

Biography

Pietro Demurtas is a sociologist. He is currently PHD student in methodology of Social Sciences at the Dept. of Communication and Social Research, Sapienza - University of Rome and researcher fellow at Institute for Research on Population and Social Policy - Italian Research Council.

His main field of interest are: demographic trends, market labour analysis in a gender perspective and discrimination.

By working in collaboration with the IRPPS-CNR he has taken part to National and International projects and he has acquired competences and experiences in statistical data analysis, in conducting face to face interviews, in the implementation and analysis of attitudinal surveys and Delphi Study, in planning focus groups, and in Report writing.

He has participated in several international, and national conferences and workshops and presented papers.

Contacts

Via Silvio Benico, 74 - 00177 Rome, Italy

Tel. +39-06-492724299 (Office)

Tel. +39-333-3261715 (Mobile)

Fax: +39-06-49383724

E-mail: p.demurtas@irpps.cnr.it

Web site: www.irpps.cnr.it